"REVIEW OF JAPANESE NAVY IN HONGKEW PARK : EXTRAORDINARY
PRECAUTIONS ADOPTED IN HONGKEW DISTRICT : A REVIEW OR A DEMONSTRATION? : ALL SPECTATORS SEARCHED AS A PRECAUTION AGAINST ASSASSINS"

A review of more than 2,000 officers and men of the Third Fleet of the Japanese Navy in Harbour was held in the Hongkew Park yesterday morning. About 10,000 Japanese residents were present to watch the review. It was a military review as well as a demonstration.

As a precaution against a repetition of the Shirakawa incident, in which Baron General Shirakawa, Commander-in-Chief of the local Japanese Army was killed and 12 high naval officials were wounded as a result of a bomb thrown by Ying Feng Chi (于奉吉), member of the Korean Independent Clique, during a military review which took place in the Hongkew Park on April 29, 1932, strict precautionary measures were adopted in the vicinity of Hongkew Park. Chinese and foreign detectives and Sikh policemen of the Shanghai Municipal Police patrolled the various streets from Dixwell Road to Kiangwan Road. At every road intersection between Chinese controlled territory and the Settlement, groups of Chapei policemen were on guard, while inside the Hongkew Park a large number of policemen and Japanese marines were on duty. A cordon of Japanese marines surrounded the platform to a distance of several feet. No unauthorized person was allowed inside this cordon. People carrying parcels were subjected to a rigid search before they were admitted into the park. All these precautions were taken to prevent a second Ying Feng Chi, a bomb thrower, from gaining admittance.

The review commenced at 10.30 a.m. Among those on the platform were General Yang Fu, the Wosung-Shanghai Garrison Commissioner, General Wu Teh Chen, Mayor of Shanghai, and General Tsai Ching Chun, Commissioner of the Bureau of Police. The six beautiful girls sent from Tokyo to console the marines attracted the most attention. More than 100 military pigeons were used in the review. The proceedings terminated at 10.40 a.m.

The discharge of rifles and machine guns caused great alarm among the people living in the vicinity.

Placed in 5. 2

The New Year's Parade of the Japanese 3rd Fleet and the Naval Landing Party will be held on Kiangwan Road and in Hongkew Park on January 4, 1937, under the command of Rear-Admiral Okochi, Commander of the Naval Landing Party. Some 2,000 officers and men of the Naval Landing Party including the detachments stationed in various places in the Settlement and sailors from the warships at present in harbour will participate in the parade. The parade will be inspected by Vice-Admiral Hasegawa, Commander-in-Chief of the 3rd Fleet. The function will terminate at about 12 noon. Prominent Japanese officials and foreign military and naval officers are expected to attend. A large number of local Japanese residents are also expected to turn out both on Kiangwan Road and in Hongkew Park to witness the display. On January 4 the units on foot will assemble in the park by 8.30 a.m. and carry out a rehearsal prior to the commencement of the parade.

The artillery, gun carriages, tanks, armoured cars and motor cycles mounted with machine-guns will be parked on Kiangwan Road, north of the west gate of Hongkew Park. At 10.30 a.m. they will proceed south along Kiangwan Road to be reviewed by Vice-Admiral Hasegawa, who, together with senior Japanese officials and foreign military and naval officers will occupy a position on the east pavement of the road about 10 yards south of the main entrance to the Shanghai Shrine. The units will continue South along North Szechuen Road, turn West into Darroch Road and proceed north to North Szechuen Road, where they will be parked alongside the railway track. Following the inspection of these units, the Commander-in-Chief will visit the Headquarters of the Naval Landing Party.

Subject (in full) Annual parade of Japanese Naval Landing Party to be held in Hongkew Park on January 4, 1935.

Made by D. S. Umemoto. Forwarded by J. S. R. Dr.

The local Japanese Naval Landing Party under the command of Rear-Admiral Araki, Commander of the Landing Party, will hold a parade, which will be reviewed by Vice-Admiral Hyakutake, Commander-in-Chief of the Japanese Third Fleet, on Kiangwan Road and in Hongkew Park between 10.30 a.m. and 11.30 a.m. January 4, 1935. Some 1,600 officers and men from the Landing Party and warships of the Third Fleet at present in harbour as well as the Artillery and Armoured-car units will participate.

All the Artillery gun carriages and armoured cars will be parked on Kiangwan Road in the vicinity of the swimming Pool. At 10.30 a.m. they will proceed south along Kiangwan Road to be reviewed by Vice-Admiral Hyakutake, who, together with Senior Japanese and Chinese officials as well as foreign naval officers will occupy a position on the east side of the road about 10 yards south to the entrance of the Shanghai Shrine. The units will then enter Darroch Road and proceed along the following roads:- North Szechuen, Kiangwan and Wonglo Roads.

Following the review of the Artillery and Armoured-car Corps, the Vice-Admiral, accompanied by the other notables present, will enter Hongkew Park where a parade of the other units will be carried out.

Vice-Admiral Hyakutake will land at the Customs Jetty at about 10.20 a.m. January 4, 1935 and proceed by motor-car to the Headquarters of the Japanese Naval Landing Party, Kiangwan Road. No Police escort is requested by the Japanese Naval Authorities. Mr. A. Ariyoshi, Japanese Minister to China, General Wu Teh Chen, Mayor of Shanghai, and several
